

I do not like the fact that Sinclair Broadcasting has decided to direct their various stations to show an anti-Kerry documentary. As Sinclair uses public radio space, the FCC should prevent that kind of abuse. Sinclair's decision is clearly motivated by partisan politics. If the FCC will not block the showing of the anti-Kerry program, then the FCC should force Sinclair to balance things out with a pro-Kerry or anti-Bush program.

Regards,
Sheldon Moss